THE CONSUMPTION OF HORSE-FLESH IN EUROPE.

In an article of [illegible] of the Economiste Français M. Husson of the Institute, says the Pall Mall Gazette, which summarizes M. Husson's article, furnishes [illegible] information [illegible] the trade in horse flesh, which has not only attained considerable dimensions in Paris, but as he [illegible] country butchers' business. Notwithstanding M. Geoffroy Saint Hilaire's advocacy of hippophagy, it seems to have been in Germany that the first shop was established for the sale of horse flesh. At least M. Husson informs us that the slaughtering of horses for food began at Munich so long ago as 1839. Between that year and 1870 there were slaughtered in that city 3,305 horses, being at the rate of 325 per annum. At Berlin horse flesh did not appear to have come into use until the year 1865, but from that date up to 1872 the number of horses killed for food amounted to [illegible] or at the rate of [illegible] per annum. At Berlin however only about a quarter of the flesh actually yielded is eaten. The consumption is therefore by no means so large as these figures would at first sight seem to [illegible] Indeed according to M. Husson's estimate the quantity consumed annually does not quite reach six [illegible] tons. With regard to the consumption in Vienna statistics are almost entirely wanting. In 1867 there were in that city two horse butchers, and five shops where horse flesh was sold. In 1870 the number of butchers had increased to eight and the retail shops to thirteen. We are not told how the figures stand now.

It will be seen that the consumption of horse flesh is spreading in most, if not all, of the great towns of Germany. Yet the meat does not seem to find much favor with the body of the people. In France it is used to a much greater extent. In the latter country it is dressed in as many different ways as beef—roast, baked, hashed, stewed and fried as steak. But it is in the form of sausage that it is most largely consumed, and in this shape it [illegible] is by no means confined to Paris. Indeed, one of the largest factories for the making of sausages from horse flesh is situate at [illegible] During last year no fewer than 500 horses were manufactured into sausages [illegible] Besides the flesh the tongue, brains, and liver of horses are sold as delicacies, and even the fat [illegible] is converted into a kind of butter. In consequence of the [illegible] animals which a few years ago the knackers were able to buy for [illegible] now costing [illegible] Animals [illegible] for food fetch from [illegible] Of course it must not be said that it is only horses which are past work that are [illegible] At the same time however M. Husson assures us that every precaution is taken to prevent [illegible] from being [illegible] The horses must be slaughtered either at the [illegible] or at a private abattoir at Pantin, and each of them is inspected by a veterinary surgeon before being slaughtered, and again before [illegible] is allowed to be offered for sale. Mules and asses are also eaten and the [illegible] flesh though [illegible] than that of the horse is said to be more delicate. On the first day of the present year there were in Paris forty eight shops open for the sale of the flesh of horses, mules and asses. Most of the butchers slaughtered the animals they sold, but some few buy the meat by the piece like the smaller dealers in other kinds of meat. The customers of these shops, according to M. Husson, belong neither to the well to do nor to the indigent classes. Generally speaking they are either clerks with small salaries or work people with families. As a rule the price of the meat is about half the price of beef. The interior parts fetch from twenty to thirty centimes the half kilogramme, which but very slightly exceeds the pound avoirdupois, and the best parts range from a franc to a franc and a quarter. Even these prices, [illegible] as they seem, have lately been passed [illegible] demand for horse flesh continues to increase [illegible] M. Husson [illegible] in Paris was [illegible] In the following year the number was about [illegible] and in 1867 the [illegible] In the first nine months of 1870 however there was [illegible] of the war [illegible] above.

The number of common schools in each township are as follows: Salem has 14, Silverton 11, Sublimity 6, Gervais 5, Stayton 4, Champoeg 4, Aumsville 2, Hubbard 2, Woodburn 3, Jefferson 2, Vernon 2, Turner 2, Marion, Aurora, Brooks, Butteville, Fairfield and St. Louis, 1 each. The largest District is No. 24 in Salem township which enrolls 1,168 scholars and the smallest is No. 75 in Stayton township, which reports but 20 scholars.

The Salem Statesman says: "Efforts which have been made to have Gerrand's sentence commuted to imprisonment for life, have received a check by the exertions put forth by friends of the murdered man, who are circulating a remonstrance against commuting or petitioning the Governor to grant a reprieve. The instrument is being numerously signed, and is, we understand, being extensively circulated not only in this county but in Linn, Benton and Multnomah. The doomed man, meanwhile is kept in close confinement, visited, however, by sympathetic ladies and philanthropic gentlemen who, while condoling with him dare offer no hopes of commutation fearing they may prove false."

A letter to the Democrat from Granite creek, forty-five miles from Baker City, says: "Mr. Dunlap has a fine ledge, specimens of which I now have; the average yield is $250 per ton, one specimen is from rock that assays $673 per ton. Mr. Poor is looking through the country in the interest of San Francisco capitalists. It is the intention of Mr. Poor to erect a mill on the ledge owned by Mr. Dunlap to fully test its value, the mill at first to be a 5 stamp and will cost with appurtenances, about $15,000. Placer mining on Granite creek is progressing well. Bowen & Co. are making from $7 to $10 per day to the hand in their claim. [illegible] & Co. are making about $8 per day to the hand. Mr. Wil[illegible] is making from $10 to $15 per day [illegible], the claim of Klopp and [illegible] is paying from $6 to $10 per day to the man. Mr. Harvey Robbins & Co. are paying unusually well."

The editor of the Baker City Herald lately made a trip to North Powder River Valley. He says: "Hundreds of acres of table land have been fenced this season at the head of the valley and is supplied with water by a large ditch which has recently been built. On our return we passed the old Daly farm now owned by W. C. Hull. We never saw greater variety of vegetables and in greater quantities growing upon one farm than we saw on this place. The like cannot be seen in Baker county. In fact the crops are better in this settlement than any other point in the valley. Mr. Hull has some 20,000 cabbages growing finely and other vegetables in proportion. He has also an abundance of hay, both timothy and wild hay. We regret to say that in passing through the entire valley from this city we found the grain, hay and potato crops are going to fall short."

A company has been organized under the laws of Oregon having its principal business office at Corvallis for the purpose of constructing and running a railroad from Corvallis to the tide waters of Yaquina Bay to connect there with ocean steamers and sail vessels. In the prospectus issued by the company it is also proposed to extend the road from Corvallis through the eastern and southern parts of the State, thus affording to all parts of the great Willamette a direct and independent outlet to the ocean. To receive subscriptions to the stock the following gentlemen have been appointed: R. S. Strahan, John Kelsay, J. S. Palmer, B. W. Wilson, B. R. Biddle, John Burnett, James Chambers, Samuel Case (of Newport), J. R. Bailey, J. B. Lee, Jas. Bruce, S. N. Lilly, P. A. Chenoweth, G. W. Houck, Sol. King, N. Newton and M. W. Simpson. Subscriptions of $100 each payable in gold coin or produce or labor at current rates are solicited.

ISN'T THIS RATHER QUEER TALK?—Of the political situation in Massachusetts the Boston Advertiser says:

Many persons in Massachusetts who have usually contributed to its large Republican majorities have come to believe that the Republican party needs the discipline of defeat. There may not be enough of them to [illegible] the discipline even if the alternative were entirely satisfactory to them, but it would be folly to deny that their number is large enough to make their course in the coming election an element of considerable importance.

MONDAY MORNING JULY 20 1874

THE LEGISLATIVE STRIKERS.

Railway authorities at the East unite in pronouncing the decision of the U. S. Circuit Court on the Wisconsin railway law of the very greatest import. By this decision the constitutional right of State Legislatures to regulate the tariffs of freight on railways is affirmed in the most unqualified terms while doubt is expressed as to the right of States to legislate so as to affect directly the rates to be charged on inter State carrying. It is, we believe, the generally understood opinion of the legal profession that this branch of the question—the regulation of inter State rates—is vested exclusively in Congress. The New York Times says the decision sustaining the right of the State to regulate rates within its own boundaries can hardly be over-estimated. And again the same paper remarks:

> The unanimity and promptness with which the decision has been rendered in this case suggest the great probability of its being sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States. An issue is thus raised of vital importance not only to railroad corporations, but also to the country at large. A remark made by a local banker and quoted in the Times of yesterday puts one view of the case tersely as follows: The result of the decision will be to place every railroad in the West—and for that matter in the East—in the hands of legislative strikers.'

There is no disputing that the remark of the 'local banker' quoted by the Times does put one view of the case tersely. It is the view of the defeated and mortified stock operators put so tersely as to convey a sneer at the farmers and mechanics instead of offering a reason for opposing the decision. Legislative strikers indeed! Who are the strikers here referred to? Not the men who, employed upon the railways, strike for better pay, for all these are in the very nature of things interested in having the rates of carrying kept up. Not the professional politicians, for these have been notoriously in league with the railway monopolists, and have in very many instances reached whatever positions they hold through corrupt alliances with them. Who are meant by the contemptuous allusion to 'legislative strikers?' The producers, the mechanics, the people by the sweat of whose faces the railway monopolists eat bread of the daintiest and clothe themselves in purple and fine linen, the people, who, producing all the wealth of the world, but unable to utilize their productions without the assistance of the railways, are ready to divide the profits of the whole transaction with the carrier, pro rata, according as each has contributed means to the business, but who have the courage to protest against the carriers taking all, and the persistence to push that protest on through a hundred defeats to victory at last. These are the people at whom the sneer is cast.

And since the railway monopolists have chosen to designate all working people of this country who are not in their employ by a phrase intended to convey an insult, it will not be amiss to direct attention for a few moments to the "Legislature striker" question, from another point of view. Suppose the inquiry were instituted as to who have in the history of the railway era been most extensively engaged in the "striker" business, how would the railway rings come out? It will suffice to refer to the facts with regard to railway influence in the Oregon Legislature, as they are but an example on a small scale of what has taken place in the other States on a scale of magnitude proportionate to population and business. Commencing with the "A J. Cook & Co' infamy—which we candidly consider to-day, looking dispassionately back over it, to have been the most villainous of all the villanies that constitute the bed on which the Oregon and California railway rests—and coming on down to the act of the Legislature to saddle a debt of $300 000 on this city in the interest of the westside road, the operators of these roads have never been in want of means to secure legislative assistance to, or acquiescence in, their schemes. Who, that has ever been in Salem when these managers had a resolution or a law they wished to have passed, or a Senator they desired to elect, can soon forget the manner of their proceeding? Why the Capital is full at such times of professional "strikers," bummers and cappers of the lowest kind, and skilled bribers of the highest kind, some of them in the character of members and some merely as lobbyists. It is needless to call the names of these paid strikers," for every man at all familiar with the facts will recognize them at once. Think of the railway manager of this State unblushingly testifying in a judicial proceeding to the expenditure of thousands and thousands of dollars securing favors from the Legislature; think of the fact that in this he did only what his class have been doing throughout the Union, and then think of their speaking of the farmers who demand a share of the proceeds of their own labor as 'Legislative strikers.'

WE VOTE NO.

Apropos of the excitement in New York on the dog question and in fact growing out of it is a proposition by the Neurological Society to blunt the teeth of dogs by filing, as a means of preventing the terrible consequences of rabies being communicated by the pups to the human family. It is naturally to be supposed that a cur with his teeth spoiled would be a harmless cur in health or in hydrophobia. The Tribune seems to think there may be something in the idea of treating the case, but the Times does not take to it at all kindly. It is to the latter journal a question of canine physiology and canine mortality, as well as of mechanical possibilities. Here is the manner in which the Times sums up the whole matter after a somewhat extended examination:

> We have only to say that it is possible that under this plausible scheme to disarm the dogs there may lurk an insidious attack on the whole four-footed race of household guardians. A dog that cannot bite a tramp cannot know a bone. How shall a ravenous dog with his teeth filed maintain a piece of meat? No honest and well conducted dog lives on slops or victuals. Growl he [illegible] his likes becomes a vegetarian [illegible] [illegible] more in this than meets the eye. We [illegible] the writer for the disarmament of all [illegible] but depend upon it the day that sees them all with their teeth filed distant though that day may be sees us afflicted with an inferior and deteriorated race of canine vegetarians—a race of dogs that shall have no more vitality than the bronze effigies that adorn the municipal door steps.

When the Tribune sends out its blanks to the newspapers of the country to ascertain how they all stand on the question of filing dogs teeth as it did in relation to the inflation proposition we shall be compelled to enroll the name of the OREGONIAN on the side of the negative unless we see better arguments on the other side than we have yet seen. For in addition to the many weighty reasons against the plan given by the Times we beg to ask in the name of all the Darwins who have not the dogs of New York developed into a race of vegetarian dogs if that is the complexion to which they must come at last. Let the Tribune and Neurological Society answer that conundrum.

HOW ABOUT TAXES IN FUTURE?

The Common Council of the city of Portland has for some time been devoting a very considerable proportion of its attention to the subject of retrenchment. Whenever it has appeared possible to curtail expenses without causing the public to suffer materially, that has been done. Every unnecessary source of expense has been removed. At the end of the last fiscal year the official reports showed very considerable reduction of expenses and at the close of the current year it will be found the reduction has been very great indeed and that taxation will be much lower next year than it is this year. There is likewise manifested a decided purpose on the part of the County Court to cut off various of the streams that have helped to deplete the Treasury and burden the county. About the last act of the old Board was to pay out of the people's money sixty bogus deputy Sheriffs appointed, without warrant of law and clearly without the excuse of necessity to help run the election in the interest of the Custom House ring. In other words the retiring County Court having run the county for the benefit of the ring of unscrupulous political fortune hunters, closed up its career by taking a large sum of the people's money out of the people's Treasury, and handing it over to the ring candidate for Sheriff to be used by him in endeavoring to secure a re-election. This is just what it comes to—nothing more nor less. Contrast with this the course of the present Board a majority of which was elected by the people in opposition to the ring candidate. Among the first acts of this Board is to cut down the salary of the hospital physician, which had been raised by the old Board pursuant to a special agreement with Hipple, in order to make a fat place for a spy he kept in his service. In pursuance of their purpose of reducing taxation, the new Board are cutting down, lopping off, weeding out on every hand. It may be reasonably hoped that henceforth we shall have both city and county governments carried on as cheaply as it is possible to carry them on efficiently.

The Premium List of the Washington County Agricultural Society to be awarded at the Eighth Annual Fair has been placed on our table. It is a neat little pamphlet of twenty pages printed at the job office of Mr A G Walling of this city. The list of premiums is quite extensive and the premiums, themselves liberal. The Fair will be held at the Society's handsome grounds at Hillsboro commencing on Monday September 28th and continuing to Friday evening.

LETTER FROM LAPWAI.

FORT LAPWAI I T July 9 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

On the 2d inst, Col David Perry Lieuts Henry N Moss and W H Miller with about forty enlisted men of I Company, First U. S Cavalry, arrived at this garrison, in compliance with Gen Davis orders and on the 5th accompanied by Dr G F Alexander, of the Lapwai Agency started for the Indian camas ground called We-ipe about twelve miles from Pierce City in the Oro Fino mining district and distant from this post about seventy miles.

THE EXACT OBJECT

For ordering these troops to the camas ground is I presume, only known to the military authorities and the Indian Department although many rumors are in circulation as to the aim and object of the movement. Joseph Jr the famous non treaty Chief of Wallowa fame is now at We ipe, or at least started for that place from here four or five days ago. As yet no news from Col Perry's command has been received at this garrison since his departure from here.

On the 4th inst messengers arrived here from Gen Davis camp at the Lower Spokane bridge for the purpose of procuring the mail matter for his command that might have accumulated here since its departure from these gay and festive parts and report everything serene so far as heard from. The messengers left here this morning to meet Gen Davis and party at the Upper Spokane Falls where they are expected to arrive on or about the 11th inst.

FOURTH OF JULY

The Fourth passed off pleasantly here the order of the day being horse racing, foot races a sack race catching a greased pig (not the learned one) a dance in the evening among the enlisted men at the Post and all seemed edified contented and happy as a clam at high tide.

WEATHER

Welcome ye shades ye flowers thickets hail
Ye lofty pines &c

That's what's the matter in these parts. Just imagine the Thermometer indications from 101 to 108 in the shade! Can't you stop this tremendous question and not let us all be consumed by this feverish heat. Surely there are some who desire [illegible] of a well done roast. Oh for a lodge! &c

Lieut Shelton's fractured leg is improving finely and I presume in a short space of period he will be able to hop around like a sun flower in a tornado.

THE POSITION OF THE COURT MARTIAL IN GEN HOWARD'S CASE.—Gen O O Howard makes the following statement concerning the position of the Court-Martial on his case:

First the Court were unanimous in their report of facts; second they were unanimous in the first point of the opinion—that is that I was not guilty upon legal technical or moral responsibility in any of the offenses charged; third they were unanimous upon the second point but upon the third point with regard to the investment of [illegible] moneys in United States bonds there was division of [illegible] in favor [illegible] three fourths; upon the last point there was a division of five in favor and two against.

THE NEXT DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT.—There seems to be a disposition among the Democrats of the West to [illegible] things of their brethren in the East. Right on top of the [illegible] meeting in Tammany Hall on the Fourth the [illegible] Ring [illegible] turn this bucketful [illegible] kind of water. The West and South will [illegible] a hand in the next Presidential [illegible] there [illegible] will not be a [illegible] upon that but on the contrary will [illegible] ment of the bonded debt in greenbacks and a considerable increase of the circulating [medium] [illegible] power of New York [illegible]

THE CHICAGO FIRE

CHICAGO July 14th—Evening.—The fire swept into and over the First Baptist Church on Wabash Avenue, and what was this evening before sundown one of the most elegant and costly church edifices of our city is now a smouldering heap of ruins.

THE POST OFFICE BUILDING [illegible]

As it was very evident from the course of the fire and strength of the wind at about half past six o'clock that the Post Office building was in all probability doomed, General McArthur the Postmaster [illegible] at once to remove the mails to a place of safety. All mail bags [illegible] into service by him [illegible] last wagon left the building and the place that had been the upper story of the United States mails [illegible] was deserted for ever [illegible] ten minutes past eight the building first caught and at half past eight o'clock was a mass of flames.

[illegible] AWAY

When [illegible] our Fire Department really in becoming masters of the situation and at the corner where the Postoffice was situated, at Wabash avenue and Harrison street the very point where our previous great fire was stopped our firemen seemed to be inspired with superhuman efforts to prevent its spread into the rebuilt district and here it was that all their energies were concentrated to bar its further progress. The building on the south east corner was a large brick dwelling house and by making a bulwark of this against the ever oncoming sheets of flame the prospect of holding this building saving it and thereby preventing the progress of the fire through to Michigan avenue was quite promising. At half past 9 o'clock however the northeast corner of these streets occupied by our Postoffice was then a mass of flames.

Among the buildings destroyed on the east side of Wabash Avenue was the church building formerly occupied by the congregation of Robert Laird Collyer. It seems somewhat singular that this conflagration should be checked at the same place where our previous big fire was checked and that the very building spared by the previous fire should now be one of the last to succumb this time. The mails were all removed to the substation on the corner of West Randolph and Halstead streets. Between Eldridge Court and Harrison street on the east side of Wabash Avenue some dozen handsome buildings were destroyed while on the west side of the street between these points every building was leveled with the ground. Looking westwardly the same dead heap of ruins was presented as was so vividly engraved on the memory of our inhabitants in 1871. The house of Horace White of the Tribune was burned and that of J Y Scammon formerly manager of the Inter Ocean.

THE ORIGIN AND PROGRESS

The fire commenced in that portion of the city known as Cheyenne between Taylor and Twelfth and Clark street and Fourth avenue. This part of the city consists of the worst rookeries imaginable most of which were occupied as houses of ill fame. The alarm struck from the corner of Twelfth and Clark streets at half past 4 o'clock and a few minutes afterward the fire engines arrived. The whole area from 503 to 5[illegible] Clark street through to Third avenue was in flames. The wind blew a gale from the southeast and in spite of the efforts of the firemen the fire crossed Third avenue communicating to Queen's Chapel (colored) on the east side of the street. The spread of the flames southward on Clark street was checked at No. 527. The building on the northeast corner of Clark and Taylor caught fire about 4 o'clock. The fire slowly burned northward till it reached 467 where it was checked. At the southern limit on the west side of Third avenue is the large distillery of G T Russell & Co No 2[illegible]. This rookery was saved through the exertions of the workingmen of the place preventing the spread of the conflagration southward on that street. From this point the fire

SPREAD WITH FEARFUL RAPIDITY

In a northeasterly direction. About 5 30 P M it had burned through the corner of Taylor and State streets. The strange phenomena namely the jumping of flames and communicating to buildings whole squares distant, was again witnessed on this occasion. While the fire had not crossed to the north side of Taylor Mrs Bryan's millinery store on the north east corner of Polk street and Third avenue commenced to burn and in spite of the exertions of an engine and numberless citizens was burning furious from top to bottom. Shortly afterwards at about 6 o'clock the German Methodist Church corner of Third avenue and Polk caught fire in the steeple. At about 7 the fire had burned through to State street. Nothing could be done to stop the fire going to the north therefore the attention of the firemen was mainly directed to the south. They checked the spread of the fire in that direction at the time it had reached Appleton's restaurant No 518 State street. The southern limits of the fire on Fourth avenue are No 264 on the west side and 2[illegible]3 on the east side about ten houses north of Twelfth street. About half past 6 o'clock the fire crossed State street, communicating to the building No 509 opposite Taylor and thence burned north on both sides of State.

BLOWING UP A HOTEL

On the corner of Wabash avenue and Peck court at 7 o'clock when the fire was going at a rapid rate toward Wabash avenue the reporter met Alderman Campbell and Police Superintendent Rehm. Campbell wanted to blow up some buildings but Rhem objected as he had no power to do so. Mr Campbell said he had spoken to the Mayor about the same thing but the Mayor declined to do any such thing. The reporter passed to Wabash avenue. Here he met Mayor Colvin who seemed to have lost all energy and power and who said he could do nothing. At twenty minutes [illegible] o'clock the First Baptist Church on Wabash avenue between Peck and Eldridge courts caught fire from whence the flames spread rapidly south and at seventeen minutes past 7 Wood's Hotel corner of State street and Hubbard court was burning.

The southern limits of the fire are as follows: On Clark street east side to No 527 on Fourth avenue to No 283 on the west side and to No 283 on east side on Third avenue to No [illegible] the west side and to No 283 on the east side on State street to No 518 on the west side and to No 511 on the east side of the street; on Wabash avenue to No 475 on the west and to No 472 on the east side (Aiken's Theater). Several streams were kept constantly playing upon the roof of this building but the western end of it was discovered to be in flames which increased the [illegible] and the fire crept along toward the eastern end of the building. To the north of the theater was a large vacant lot and another vacant lot was right opposite it. It was hoped that a check to the fire could be effected here and the theater became the point of the firemen's exertions, but as soon as the flames took firm hold on the building it became apparent that the theater had to go. As usual when such buildings burn the flames were of the hottest description and the sparks from the wooden work of the most dangerous kind.

[illegible] MAYOR

It was 9 30 when the flames reached the south end of the St James Hotel and it was evident that in less than ten minutes the hotel would be in flames. At this moment just as the [illegible] of the hotel caught fire, Mayor Colvin appeared at this point and gave orders to blow up the hotel. The Mayor was surrounded by a half dozen persons of various grades of office. The order to blow the building up was given to a policeman who was sent off to hunt up the person in charge of the powder while the Mayor pounded on the door of the State Street Savings Bank to inform the cashier of his intent. On being asked what building he intended to blow up the Mayor said he would [illegible] all the buildings [illegible] north [illegible] Van Buren [illegible] from State to Michigan Avenue. [illegible] a question whether he had any competent [illegible] work [illegible] The competent [illegible] was [illegible] about twenty [illegible] the slow match was lighted the crowd [illegible] The powder was arranged in the center [illegible] [illegible] The crowd held its breath [illegible] the building [illegible] [illegible] the whole [illegible] flames of such intensity that Carter's building just east on Van Buren street followed it as [illegible] did the buildings on the north side.

The question of fire limits and wooden buildings is revived again by this fire and there seems to be the utmost determination on the part of our citizens to prevent any further construction of wooden fire traps within the city limits. It is also strongly urged that the management of the Fire Department be placed in the hands of the Board of Underwriters in order to remove the force from political influence.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT LAYS THE BLAME

Of the spreading of last night's conflagration to the Board of Public Works. The insufficiency of water is the excuse. The insurance in the devastated district was comparatively light. For some time the more prudent [companies] have been withdrawing policies in that section not deeming the growing [illegible] partly inflammable condition of the buildings [illegible]. Up to this writing it is impossible to procure an accurate list of the losses of the companies. Much of the insurance was held upon stocks of goods and furniture which were quite generally removed and the salvage will prove a considerable item. No company is in doubt as to its ability to stand the strain.

ATTEMPT TO BRIBE A JUDGE.—MADISON WIS July [illegible].—The following note was found in Chief Justice Ryan's mail matter to-day and read by that gentleman in open Court:

After some comment the note was handed to Attorney General Sloan for such action as he shall deem necessary. The writer of the note given above is a simple minded not very intelligent German, a party to the case of Karolina Wester respondent vs Ludwig Henry Zaun appellant from the Washington county Circuit Court.

DESTITUTION AND DEATH.—The following account of destitution and supposed suicide we learn from a New York exchange: A family named Moynahan, consisting of husband, wife and a little boy, living in Cherry street, respectable people and not disposed to mix much with their neighbors, were not seen for several days past. A strange odor came from their apartments. The police were notified and they broke open the door. They found Moynahan lying in the front room evidently dying. He was removed to the station house. Mrs Moynahan was found dead in bed. The doctors said she had been dead three days. The body was removed to the Morgue. The little boy was asleep on the floor. A bottle of Paris green was found lying on the floor, which told the story. Restoratives were applied to Mr Moynahan and he slightly recovered, but would say nothing on the subject of the tragedy further than "You will find out all about it by and by." The house was well furnished and gave evidence of the refined taste of its occupants. It was understood that Mr Moynahan was identified with the Fenian movement and imprisoned in England. The exchange states that deceased has a brother who resides in Portland. We know of no one by that name at present. Months ago a man named Monaghan was stricken down with paralysis on the streets and died in a few hours. This person was an Irishman by birth and a very industrious respectable citizen. Should this person prove to have been the brother of the unfortunate individual referred to, [illegible] the exchange has [illegible] in the [illegible].

[illegible]—The steamship [illegible] Sept[illegible] arrived on Saturday from San Francisco for Portland. She brings the following passengers: General [illegible] H Eaton U S A and family, Rev D [illegible] Pierce and wife, Rev J Hill, C [illegible] Moran, Miss F Dunbar, P E Gradford, Mrs A Getchell, Mrs W A Phillips and children, Wm Hay, P O Malloy, G H Smith, C Longfeld, P Krandell, Frank Morten, B [illegible] Alder, G Mella and family, L B Stockton and son, Mrs W A T Smith, Miss L Stump, J Kuns and wife, Mrs A Cummens and son, Rev J Weaverland wife, Rev J Thompson, W D Moran, Miss F Morgan, Miss E Kavenaugh, S T Stone, Miss N Hodson, L [illegible] Wong, W O'Malley, P H Monahan, J H Garrigan, J Blum, B Jones, J E Peck, A J Geiger, F Hell and family, H Hewett, Miss J Holman, Miss F Murphy, J Dunn, Mrs M Smith, Mrs S Frank and four children, C F Frank, M Wagner.

BURGLARY.—Early Sunday morning the residence of Mr J Simon on Morrison street near East Park was entered by some scamp who made his way to a room occupied by a young man named Gumpert and took therefrom a silver watch and $25, besides several keys. The burglar carried the pants down stairs, fearing no doubt, that his stay up stairs would awaken the inmates. On examination it was found that the parlor had been disturbed considerably, it being evident that the miscreant was in search of something valuable, most likely money. The pantry window being open, it is conjectured that the burglar entered by that means and after capturing the watch, money and keys and making a search of the parlor retired by the front door, it being found open when the occupants of the house came down stairs.

LICENSE DUE.—His Honor Mayor Failing having approved of the ordinance reducing the liquor license to $30 per quarter, saloon keepers will be compelled to pay up at once. The license has been due ever since the 1st of the present month. On the 10th of July all dealers in liquor who had not taken out a license for the quarter were liable to prosecution. But one saloon keeper had taken out license up to that date. However as the Council were intending to reduce the license Chief Lappeus did not take any hasty action in the matter, but concluded to abide the decision of the City Fathers. Now that the matter is settled beyond all cavil saloon keepers are expected to take out license at once.

FELL ON HIM.—A narrow escape from a serious accident occurred last Saturday while a quantity of baled hay was being hoisted into the second story of the City Stables. Just as a bale had reached the upper window, the tackling suddenly gave way. A man who was standing below received the bale square on the top of his head, which knocked him senseless for some time. At length the man returned to consciousness and without any apparent inconvenience resumed labor. It seems almost miraculous that the accident did not terminate fatally, as the bale weighed over 100 pounds and the distance it fell was about 30 feet. The yielding character of the weight is all that saved the man's life.

POOR HOUSE SUPERINTENDENT.—Pursuant to adjournment the Board of County Commissioners will meet to-day. As a number of applications have been made for appointment to the Superintendency of the Poor House and Farm, among the first business considered by the Board will be the examination of the qualifications of the applicants and the appointment of some one to that position. The one great object sought to be accomplished is to make this much needed institution as near self sustaining as possible, an important point which the Court will not overlook in making the appointment.

MUST C[illegible].—In anticipation of the going into effect of the [illegible] ordinance prohibiting license from being issued to all saloons kept and presided over by low and disreputable females several of these dives have closed. As the license is now due and payable the proprietresses of these resorts will be compelled to close out now in short order. No license will be issued to such and for them to attempt to keep open will be a subjection to criminal prosecution.

NEW LINE.—In speaking of the new telegraph line being reconstructed between Roseburg and Yreka the Jacksonville Times says: "Work is progressing on the new telegraph line with rapidity. About two or three miles are built each day. The building reached Willow Springs Wednesday evening and will be completed to Jacksonville this week. Dr Plummer, Division Agent informs us that the new line will be in every respect superior to the old line."

NEW ENGINE HOUSE.—The old wooden building which has so long and faithfully served as an engine house for Multnomah Co No [illegible] will soon be torn down preparatory to the commencement of work on the new brick building which will be constructed thereon. On Saturday the Surveyor was engaged in [illegible] the corners for the new and pretentious structure.

ADJOURNED MEETING.—By order of the President an adjourned meeting of the Ladies Prayer League will be held this (Monday) evening at the Taylor street M E Church at 6 o'clock sharp. Business of importance is to be transacted.

Y M C A.—There will be a meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association to-morrow evening, Monday, July 20 at 8 o'clock prompt, for the transaction of important business. Every member is earnestly requested to be present.

SHIPMENT OF TREASURE.—During June the following amounts of treasure were shipped to San Francisco by Wells, Fargo & Co.: Currency $6 154 65; gold coin $148 000; gold bullion $49 8[illegible]3.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

The Boston and Athletic Base Ball Club sailed from Philadelphia on the 16th by the steamer Ohio for their European tour.

Cricket.—This long anticipated match was played on Saturday on the grounds at East Portland. Much more interest in the game was observable than heretofore, as most of the members were on the ground early and the game commenced at 2 P M. It was by far the best exhibition of cricket that has taken place in this city, and resulted, after a close contest, in favor of the Single by [illegible] runs. Most noticeable was the good batting of Rome and Good on the side of the Single and Gilman, Burton and Sykes on that of the Married. Also the bowling of Gilman. The following is the score: First Inning—Single [illegible], Married [illegible]. Second Inning—Single [illegible], Married 60. Total—Single 1[illegible], Married 1[illegible]. Our space will not admit of an extended mention of the various plays and individual scores.

The fact that the Arcadian and Pioneer base ball clubs were to play their first game of a series on Saturday had a tendency to attract a large crowd, though not as large as it would have been had the cricket match not attracted many to the eastside. All expected a spirited contest and sadly were the spectators disappointed. From early morn till the hour of play it was manifest that trouble would be brewing, on account of the introduction of Johnson late of the Eagles as catcher for the Pioneers. This gentleman is a splendid catcher and a sure swift thrower to bases. With he and Royal in the new nine of the Pioneers it looked a serious matter for the Arcadians and they made up their minds to strongly object to the playing of Johnson, basing their objections on the grounds of ineligibility, he having joined the Pioneers but a few days before the match game was to be played and had only the Friday previous played with the Eagles. Here arose a question and as an offset the Pioneers claimed that three players in the Arcadians who were members of the Pioneers in 1873 had not resigned as members and were not therefore entitled to play with the Arcadians. Thus the matter stood at [illegible] o'clock. The Pioneers were willing to play Johnson under protest and if they (the Pioneers) won the matter should be referred to base ball authorities in New York City. This seemed a fair proposition, but still the Arcadians couldn't see it. They would claim the game if the "bone of contention" appeared as a player when the game was called. Rather than disappoint the crowd the Captain of the Pioneers agreed to substitute Lownsdale for Johnson to have the game go on. This proposition was accepted and at 3 15 the game commenced, Mr Richard Bird filling the thankless position of Umpire. From the outset it was evident that the Pioneers did not have a ghost of a chance for winning. Neither Sutherland or Lownsdale had played before this season, and Wiley and Gearin had very little practice, while Northrup was a new player and, of course had no practice with the nine. The Arcadians won the toss and sent the Pioneers to the bat. Raleigh went out on a foul, Northrup was put out at first and Sutherland retired on a fly to Speck. This was a bad opening and in the whole game they were unable to make above five runs in any inning. It was all up with them and they knew it when at the end of the third inning. Oliver's pitching was wild, and the same may be said of Thompson's, to which is attributed mainly the increase of their opponents' score. There was nothing brilliant in the game beyond several fine flys taken, the best being credited to Speck, John Raleigh, Hart and Thompson. Austin made several big strikes, most of which were gathered up in time to put him out, and this accounts for his failure in making more bases on hits. Bird, Matthews and Northrup did well in their positions—the latter filling the position of catcher after the second inning. Mr Bird did his duty as umpire. The score tells the story:

CIVIL RIGHTS.

"Kurridge, dis way—25 cents to any part ob de city."

This was the theme of a sable hackman at a recent public gathering.

"Only 25 cents to any part ob de city. Hack, kurridge, sah." And thus he accosted every passing gentleman.

Presently a well dressed, gentlemanly-appearing colored man came up, when all of a sudden the hackman ceased to call out the quarters and turned so as not to look the gentleman in the face.

"I would like a carriage," said the gentleman.

No response.

"I would like to ride to the Boody House," stepping nearer and speaking louder.

"Sah?"

"Is this a hack?"

"No sah, it's a private kurridge."

"Don't you carry passengers?"

"Sometimes I does sah, and sometimes I don't sah," turning away again.

"How much to drive me to the Boody?"

"Three dollars, sah."

But the gentleman got in, and it seemed to display his face at the window as much as possible as they drove along the streets. But imagine the driver's disgusted look when the gentleman helped himself out and handed a quarter for his fare and, with a smile, passed into the hotel.

He was no other than Prof Larcome of Washington whose life has been spent in teaching and in efforts to elevate his race.—Toledo Commercial.

THE LATEST CANADIAN RIOT.—St John N B, July 7.—A serious riot occurred in Fredericton last night on the occasion of a performance of [illegible]'s circus. A large number of lumbermen were present, and some dispute arising at the ticket office on the subject of change, a disturbance took place, which ended in the circus people drawing revolvers and firing among the crowd. This instead of intimidating only served to incense those present, and as fast as those wounded were carried away, others took their places till the circus people were overpowered and some of their wagons were run into the river. At this time the riot assumed an alarming aspect. The fire bells were rung and the Mayor with a body of special constables hastily sworn in after some trouble [illegible]. BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

The following is a synopsis of meetings of the Board of School Directors of District No 1 held on the 14th and 15th insts:

Report of Rev G H Atkinson on the subject of the recent school examination received and placed on file.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved. That the sincere thanks of the Board of Directors be hereby tendered to Rev G H Atkinson for his able and efficient services as a representative of the Board at the recent examination of the public schools of the city.

The question of giving a portion of this District to District No 27 came up for discussion. The object of this movement being for the purpose of establishing the north line of this District on some street where as it now runs diagonally across lots and blocks, and also to give a small strip of territory to District No 27 to enable said District to provide for a school which they are at present unable to do. After a careful consideration of the subject the following preamble and resolution were passed:

WHEREAS, Parties in interest have represented the importance and justice of setting off a portion of School District No 1 for the purpose of creating a new District; and

WHEREAS, The County Superintendent has recommended that a portion of said District No 1 be set off for the purpose named; therefore [illegible]

Resolved, That the Board consent to and recommend that all that portion of said School District No 1 lying north of the line of [illegible] street and bounded on the west by the Balch claim be set off for the purpose of creating School District No 27.

A report was received from the School Clerk notifying the Board that the money in the Treasury was all expended. In view of this fact J C Ainsworth was appointed a committee to negotiate a temporary loan of $1 500.

The following teachers were then elected for the school year beginning the first Monday in September 1874 and ending the last week in June, 1875:

THE CONGRESS OF BOOK PUBLISHERS.—Columbus, July 7.—The Congress of Book Publishers and Book Sellers of the United States will be held at Put-in Bay, July 21, 22, and 23. Half fare arrangements on all leading railroads have been secured. The object of the Congress is to regulate the price of books throughout America, making them conform to a uniform and invariable rule as the book trade is now at a crisis. A very large attendance is already assured.

HYDROPHOBIA IN FORT WAYNE, IND.—Fort Wayne, Ind, July 7.—A man named Lyans, living in Warsaw, Ind, who was bitten by a mad dog ten days ago, exhibited symptoms of hydrophobia yesterday, and is now given up by his physicians. The Mayor of Fort Wayne has issued a proclamation directing the police to kill all unmuzzled dogs.

SUCCESS BASED UPON MERIT.

It is a subject of general remark among both wholesale and retail druggists that no medicine introduced to the American public has ever gained such a popularity and met with so large a sale in all parts of the land in the same length of time as Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This cannot depend upon its having been more largely advertised than any other medicine, as such is not the case. The correct explanation, we think is found in the fact that this medicine produces the most wonderful and perfect cures of very bad cases of bronchial, throat and lung diseases, is undoubtedly the most perfect and efficient remedy for all kinds of coughs that has ever been introduced to the public, and at the same time possesses the great blood-purifying and strengthening properties that medical science has been able to produce, thus rendering it a sovereign remedy not only in the cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and Coughs, but also for all diseases of the liver and blood, as scrofulous diseases, blotches, rough skin, pimples, black specks and discoloration. It has therefore a wide range of application and usefulness, and [illegible] gives the most perfect satisfaction to all who use it, but far exceeds the expectation of the most sanguine, thus eliciting the loudest praise and making permanent its advertising mediums of all who use it. For these reasons it is that there is not perhaps a druggist in the vast domain of this Continent who tries to please his customers and supply their wants, that does not keep a full [illegible] of this most valuable [illegible] one.

JESUP, Iowa, May [illegible] 187[illegible]

DR R V PIERCE—Dear Sir—We take pleasure in saying that your medicines have sold entirely beyond our expectations. We regard them as the best medicines extant and we hear them spoken of in the highest terms of praise.
R T SMITH & CO

Young America talks base ball, the politician thinketh of the next election, the dispenser of the ardent is happy since the license has been reduced, the crusaders have discontinued their warfare on the saloons, and the merchant awaits the next customer. During the heated term a suit of light clothing is in order. Where to get the desired article is the question. That is readily answered. Beck & Waldman can prove to what is wanted. Interview them on the subject.

DON'T IRRITATE YOUR LUNGS with a stubborn Cough when a remedy as safe and certain as Dr Jayne's Expectorant can be so easily procured. Sore Throat and [illegible] are speedily helped by it.

A DULL HEADACHE, NO APPETITE, COSTIVENESS, and Low Spirits are some of the indications of a Bilious Attack arising from a torpid liver. Dr Jayne's Sanative Pills will soon restore the liver to action, driving all impurities of the blood from the system and assist in bringing about a regular action of the bowels.

THE UNDERSIGNED THANKING THE PUBLIC for the very liberal patronage bestowed upon that favorite Summer Resort the past season, informs Visitors that

The Hotel is Now Open for the Reception of Guests.

Many improvements dictated by the past year's experience have been made conducive to the comfort and pleasure of visitors. Among the many are our Large Swings for the little folks, Shuffle Board, a splendid exercise for Ladies, Quoit Grounds for Gentlemen, Horseback Trail to the top of Grand Old Tillamook, Croquet Ground as usual. The River Fleet of Boats is increased to ten in number, and the subscriber takes pleasure in informing his aquatic friends that he has constructed a splendid Boat capable of carrying thirty persons with comfort. In fact nothing has been left undone to make this truly sanitary spot the most pleasant and attractive place upon the Pacific coast.

SUMNER.

[illegible]

O [illegible]
Whose [illegible] march
Of [illegible]

And now [illegible]
Thy [illegible]
There [illegible]
[illegible]

And [illegible] upon the organ swell
[illegible]
And [illegible] again [illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible]
[illegible]
Superb [illegible] on a grave that still
[illegible]

I take with [illegible] the task [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] token from my hand [illegible]

[illegible] tender memory moved
[illegible] past my thought [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

What [illegible] been said [illegible] but say
All know [illegible] work that [illegible]
For he was [illegible] as the day
And [illegible] of himself [illegible]

[illegible] in his ear —
He saw [illegible] cloud and flame
[illegible] to Hebrew seer
A clearer [illegible]

[illegible] said "Break thou these yokes undo
These heavy burdens [illegible]
A work to last thy whole life through —
A ministry of strife and pain

Forego thy dreams of lettered ease —
Put thou the scholar's promise by
The rights of man are more than these
He heard and answered "Here am I!"

He set his face against the blast
His feet against the flinty shard
Till the hard service grew at last
Its own exceeding great reward.

The fixed star of his faith through all
Loss doubt and peril shone the same,
As through a night of storm some tall,
Strong light house lifts its steady flame

Beyond the dust and smoke he saw
The sheaves of Freedom's large increase
The holy fanes of Equal Law,
The New Jerusalem of Peace

No wail was in his voice — none heard
When treason's storm cloud blackest grew
The [illegible] of a doubtful [illegible]
His duty and the end he knew

The first to smite the first to spare,
When once the hostile ensigns fell
He stretched out hands of generous care
To lift the foe he fought so well.

For there was nothing base or small
Or craven, in his soul's broad plan
Forgiving all things personal
He hated only wrong to Man

The old traditions of his State,
The memories of her great and good
Took from his life a fresher date
And in himself embodied stood

How felt the greed of gold and place
The venal crew that schemed and planned
The fine scorn of that haughty face,
The spurning of that bribeless hand

If than Rome's Tribune statelier
He wore his Senatorial robe,
His lofty port was all for her
The one dear spot on all the globe

If to the master's plea he gave
The vast contempt his manhood felt
He saw a brother in the slave —
With Man as Equal man he dealt

Proud was he? If his presence kept
Its grandeur wheresoe'er he trod
As if from Plutarch's gallery stepped
The hero and the [illegible] god,

None failed, at least, [illegible] his ear,
Nor want nor woe appealed in vain
The homesick soldier knew his cheer
And [illegible] him [illegible] his ward of pain

Safely his dearest friends may own
The slight defects he never hid
The [illegible] blemish in the stone
Of the tall stately pyramid

Suffice it that he never brought
His conscience to the public mart
But lived himself the truth he taught
White souled clean handed, pure of heart

What if he felt the natural pride
Of power in noble use, too true
With thin humilities to hide
The work he did the lore he knew?

Was he not just? Was any wronged
By that assured self-estimate?
He took but what to him belonged
Unenvious of another's state

Well might he heed the words he spake,
And scan with care the written page
Through which he still shall warm and wake
The hearts of men from age to age

Ah! who shall blame him now because
He solaced thus his hours of pain
Should not the o'erworn thresher pause
And hold to light his golden grain

No sense of humor dropped its oil
On the hard ways his purpose went
Small play of fancy lightened toil
He spake alone the thing he meant

He loved his books the Art that hints
A beauty veiled behind its own
The graver's line the pencil's tint
The chisel's shape evoked from stone

He cherished void of selfish ends
The social courtesies that bless
And sweeten life and loved his friends
With most unworldly tenderness.

But still his tired eyes rarely learned
The glad relief by Nature brought
Her mountain ranges never turned
His current of persistent thought.

The sea rolled chorus to his speech
The pine-grove whispered of his theme;
Where'er he wandered rock and beach
Were Forum and the Academe

The [illegible] joy from all things fair
His strenuous bent of soul repressed
And left from youth to silvered hair
Few hours for pleasure none for rest

For all his life was poor without
O Nature! make the last amends
Train all thy flowers his grave about
And make thy singing birds his friends

Revive again thou Summer rain
The broken turf upon his bed!
Breathe Summer wind thy tenderest strain
Of low, sweet music overhead

Nor cant nor poor solicitudes
Made weak his life's great argument
Small leisure his for frames and moods
Who followed Duty where she went

The broad fair fields of God he saw
Beyond the bigot's narrow bound
The truths he moulded into law
In Christ's beatitudes he found

His state craft was the Golden Rule
His right of vote a sacred trust
Clear over threat and ridicule
All heard his challenge "Is it just?"

And when the hour supreme had come
Not for himself a thought he gave
In that last pang of martyrdom
His care was for the half freed slave

Not vainly dusky hands upbore
In prayer the passing soul to Heaven
Whose mercy to the suffering poor
Was service to the Master given

Long shall the good State's annals tell
Her children's children long be taught
How praised or blamed he guarded well
The trust he neither shunned nor sought.

If for one moment turned thy face
O Mother from thy son not long
He waited calmly in his place
The sure remorse which follows wrong

[illegible] be the State he loved
The [illegible] brief lapse, the single blot
Forgotten be the stain removed —
Her righted record shows it not

The lifted sword above her shield
With jealous care shall guard his fame
The pine tree on her ancient field
To all the winds shall speak his name

The marble image of her son
Her loving hands shall yearly crown
And from her pictured Pantheon
His grand majestic face look down

O State so passing rich before
Who now shall doubt thy highest claim
The world that counts thy jewels o'er
Shall longest pause at Sumner's name

THE IMMORTAL JACKSON — The Chicago [illegible] this is very funny. Grant took off his hat and gravely remarked "The immortal Jackson" when the band of the old [illegible] serenaded him the other [illegible] He would have said the same thing several years sooner if he had commanded the Army at the [illegible] any time prior to [illegible] Horsville. If he could be so moved by a serenade from the old Stonewall band we shudder to think what would have been his [illegible] over one of the serenade [illegible] of the [illegible] itself.

[illegible] — The woes of a Southern Republican [illegible] Congressman are expressed by Mr. [illegible] Cobb of North Carolina, a candidate for re-election, who says to his friends "If I go for the civil rights bill I am beaten and if I don't go for it I am beaten and what in the h—l am I to do?"

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market is barren of transactions for immediate delivery, if we except a few small lots which occasionally are taken by millers at $1 [illegible] 1 60 per cental exporters would probably not pay over $1 40@1 46, and are not receiving any at present. Their [illegible] for the new crop are held [illegible] as yet.

FLOUR—The supply of standard brands of extras is [illegible] and [illegible] now in hand will be worked off in the local trade. Prices therefore keep well up, being quotable at $5 50 ₩ bbl. Common country brands can be had in abundance at $4 [illegible] superfine $4

OATS—While the current demand is well supplied there is no overstock coming in, and our quotations are 45 cents ₩ bushel for choice and 40c for inferior. We predict a decline in the course of ten days, or two weeks at most.

BARLEY—There is a good demand for choice lots for brewing purposes, and such readily command $1 50 ₩ 100 lbs, including sacks. Common feed quotable at $1 40@1 45

FEED—But little demand outside of home wants is now felt and prices are weak at $13 ₩ ton for bran $17 50 for shorts, and $30 for chops middlings etc

HAY—The new crop is coming in largely supplying the market at reduced rates. Dealers pay $10@11 ₩ ton for loose timothy from wagons and $12 [illegible] for baled.

POTATOES—The new crop is now at hand in larger lots, and prices are reduced to 37½@40c ₩ bushel according to quality. In some parts of Washington Territory where large quantities are generally produced we are informed that the yield this year will be greatly reduced by reason of some disease, the exact nature of which is unknown though many persons call it the blight.

ONIONS—The market is firm at 2@2¼c ₩ lb for choice lots of yellow, inclusive of sacks.

DRIED FRUIT—For apples the inquiry is hardly so brisk as at our last report, being quotable in sacks at 5@5½c ₩ lb and 6@6½c in kegs. Plums are not changed.

BACON—The market in this commodity is in a somewhat anomalous condition. The supply is good and holders of sides are firm in their rates which are 9½@11c ₩ lb while hams and shoulders are both plenty and cheap 200,000 lbs of the latter being offered in our hearing the other day at 8 cts, while hams are quotable at 13@14c. Our figures are for ordinary lots choice being held at an advance. We include sides hams and shoulders all under the general name as being the one most usually understood

LARD—The receipts are not heavy and we quote good fresh Oregon in tins firm at 13@14 cts ₩ lb in kegs 12@13 cts

BUTTER—The shipments by the outgoing steamer to San Francisco will be quite heavy, relieving this market of quite a large surplus for which there is no demand here and which promises a very slim margin there. Very fair lots are offering at 20@22 ₩ lb while inferior ranges all the way from 12½@18 cents. Best for table use in demand at 24@25c

CHEESE—The receipts of Oregon made are light and importations supply in large part the local demand. We quote at 16@18 cts ₩ lb according to brand

EGGS—The receipts have declined in volume materially during the past few days leaving the local trade a little short of the accustomed supplies and though the demand for shipping does not justify it the temporary wants of our home market have raised the price to 18 cents per dozen. Should receipts be considerable these rates would quickly droop

CHICKENS—There is a fair demand but lots of grown firm at $4@4 50 ₩ dozen. Spring $3@3 50

FRESH MEATS—The arrivals of sheep and cattle are increasing and are in better condition. Choice mutton sheep sell at $2 75@3 per head, common $2 25@2 50. Fat young steers command 4@6½ cts ₩ lb on foot, according to the wants of the buyer. Common lots are worth 4½@5 cts

HIDES—The receipts continue large and are freely taken at [illegible] ₩ lb for dry [illegible] for green [illegible] without blemish. Culls are quotable at 12½c

WOOL—The steamer now in port will take nearly 100,000 lbs to San Francisco and the quantity now here will still be very large and receipts daily added by rail and boats impress the observer with an enlarged opinion of our State as a wool producing country. Some extra fine lots have been received during the week, for which fancy prices were paid but current rates for choice may be given at [illegible] inferior 20@25c ₩ lb
